It was just a prank I didnt want to be a part of. I never meant to hurt anyone, least of all Johann Weir. You wouldnt know that he sells literature for a living. He has these wild eyeseyes that light something up in meand he must be twice as big as me with strong, warm hands. Hands I try not to imagineeverywhere.He scares me. And thrills me.But now, the deed is done, and I have to face the consequences. He says he just wants to hold me here until the police come, but its been hours and Im still here.Chained to a pipe in his back room like a prisoner.The only person I have to talk to is Johann, and all I have to say are secrets I didnt know I was keeping. Dark, shameful secretssecrets that involve the metal around my wrist and him standing over me. But I cant stop. I need him to know everything. I needhim.Johann has his own secretsones he wants to tell me too. And more than anything, I want to listen. And maybe, before he sends me away, hell punish me.Just a little.Just enough.
